COMSTOCK MINES.

[From the Gold Hill News.]

The grand feature of the mining situation for the week has been the cross cutting of the new ore body in the Sierra Nevada at a point 140 feet below the point at which the quartz and ore was first struck. The crosscut had penetrated the quartz but a very few feet before the ore showed improvement, and by the time a distance of ten feet was penetrated almost the entire face of the drift was in rich ore. Twelve feet in the average assays ranged from $400 to $600 per ton, an average of five assays showing $610. This morning many of the richer specimens of ore assay up into the thousands, while a fair average of the whole face is probably $400 to $500 per ton. What the length, breadth and depth of this ore body is, can only be conjectured, but there now seems but little doubt that another of our extensive and rich bonanzas has been struck, and that the Sierra Nevada after years of patient prospecting is in turn soon to take its place as perhaps the leading mine of the Comstock.

The Belcher on last Saturday started two east crosscuts on the 2300 level—one 227 feet south of the north incline and the other directly opposite that shaft. These drifts in a short time must penetrate the ore vein at a point where there is strong prospect of again finding a renewal of the lost ore.

The Crown Point also started two east crosscuts into the heart of their ground this morning, so that it will not be at all surprising should the south or Gold Hill end of the Comstock soon begin to keep time with the grand change wrought during the past few weeks on the north end.

The situation in the Ophir, California, Consolidated Virginia, Overman and Julia, is virtually unchanged for the week. At the Alta and in the Justice, Silver Hill, New York and other south-end mines preparations for lively developments at no distant day are making steady progress.

BRADLEY'S FINANCIAL INFLUENCE. The Lyon county Times remarks as follows on the recent contest in Silver City:

The Democrats of this city were believed to be anti Bradley, and that faction would undoubtedly have carried the day, had it not been for a side struggle between Messrs Adams and Bleanerhassett for the second place on the ticket. But an unexpected reinforcement arrived for Bradley on Friday evening, in the persons of Private Secretary Garrard and Lieutenant Governor Adams; also, in that of Mayor Bolknap, of Virginia, (Governor Bradley's son-in-law) who came down on Saturday; and to the united efforts of these gentlemen the result is doubtless due. The Bradley crowd spent money freely, and the keepers of the saloons which they patronized acknowledge an excess of receipts on Saturday aggregating over $500 There were only 40 votes polled in Dayton, and 81 in Silver. Of the latter 35 were against and 38 for Bradley, the remaining 8 being scratched. Bradley therefore beats his opponents three straight votes in this city.

DAILY NEVADA STATE JOURNAL

G. C. POWNING, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

THURSDAY..... .....SEPTEMBER 5, 1878.

THE DAILY JOURNAL

Is the best daily paper published on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad, east of Sacramento, and having a general circulation throughout the State, it is especially valuable as an advertising medium.

THE DAILY AND WEEKLY JOURNAL Have a combined circulation larger than that of any interior journal of Nevada, excepting those of the Comstock.

OUR SCHOOL LAW

The State of Nevada has a compulsory school law which provides that parents and guardians of children between the ages of eight and fourteen shall send them to school, either public or private, for at least sixteen weeks in each school year, unless the bodily or mental condition of the children shall offer a valid excuse. It is also provided that in the case of children living more than two miles from school, or in the case of public school not being taught in the district for a term of sixteen weeks, the law shall not take effect. The penalty for violation is a fine of not more than $100, to be doubled for each repetition of the offense. While these provisions are still in force, many of them are violated with impunity, and we notice no particular disposition on the part of the proper officers to enforce them. The law in every part should be strictly enforced.

GRANT'S SHOW.

Speculating upon the question of Grants re-election, the New York Herald says:

Whether General Grant could be elected even if the Republican National Convention should nominate him by acclamation, is quite a different question. If the chances were absolutely desperate he, of course, would not accept. But with the democratic party committed to the wild financial heresies of the West Grant's chances would be quite hopeful. The property of the country and the conservative sentiment of country would rally around him as they did in 1872 For the first two months after Mr. Greeley's nomination he seemed to be so popular and to be making so much headway that the solid business classes became alarmed, fearing his crotchets on questions of finance. The consequence was a large contribution of election funds by heavy capitalists, followed by a total eclipse of Mr Greeley's apparently brilliant prospects If the democratic candidate in 1880 should be a wild Western inflationist General Grant could be easily elected, because he has the confidence of capitalists and men of property throughout the country.

ONE GOOD EFFECT.—After the yellow fever scourge subsides, the South will be drawn nearer to the North than ever before. This is already apparent from the tone of the Southern press. The New Orleans Times, on this subject, says:

It is very gratifying the promptness with which the people all over the country are contributing to the aid and relief of the sick in the South. The fact testifies to the existence of kindly and fraternal feeling far more eloquently than any words could do As the country emerges from each of these calamities, the memory of the affection and solicitude and good deeds with which it is illumined, goes to swell the tide of reunion which is now steadily filling the old abandoned channels. There is some compensation even in our misfortunes.

THE August product of the bonanza mines to date is as follows:

California.	$158 849
Consolidated Virginia.	152,506
Total.....	$311,355

The above figures do not look as though either mine would pay a dividend for August.

GENERAL BUTLER will start on a Western tour in a few days, during which he will speak, under the auspices of the National Greenback Party, at Indianapolis, September 20th, and Terre Haute September 21st.

ORVILLE GRANT, ex-President Grant's brother, was yesterday sent to the Insane Asylum at Morristown, New Jersey. His mind runs on immense speculation and on starting a new business on a gigantic scale. He was sent at the request of friends and Dr. Morton.

A BAR of bullion extracted from Meadow Lake ore, was shipped from Cisco last Saturday. The Schively process is doing its work, they say.

THE Elko Post has entered upon a new volume. No other country weekly paper on the Pacific Coast can compare with the Post.

THE VALUE OF TALK.

The saying has passed into proverb that "talk is cheap," but it is not so cheap as many suppose. A good talker is a lucky man. Many men have talked their way into lucrative political places, but it is a fact also worthy of note that many of them have talked themselves back to the obscurity of private life after they got there. In these modern days of shorthand newspaper reporting it is almost as dangerous for a public man to express his sentiments in a speech as to record them by pen and ink on paper. Sagacious politicians of the olden times used to travel for days in order to communicate their views in private conversation, rather than commit themselves on paper. It was safe enough then to say anything on the stump, as there was no phonographic manuscript ready to be sprung on the orator if he denied his utterances. With letter writing it was different, and it was generally avoided in the declaration of political sentiments. And this has led the San Francisco Bulletin on to writing up some interesting notes in regard to the money made by lecturers, public speakers, together with a list of those now prominently before the public, and there is so much in the article worthy of reproduction that our readers will be not at all displeased at our giving it in its entirety. So, after making its introductory remarks, we copy as follows:

Since the organization of Lecture Bureaus the best talkers have learned the value in dollars and cents of the gift of fluent and fascinating speech. Henry Ward Beecher, who is now sojourning in San Francisco, likes to talk, and people delight to hear him. He has a wide range of knowledge on many subjects, and has formed the habit of saying what he thinks. Excepting John B. Gough, he has probably made more money than any other American talker. Mr. Beecher lectures on an average five nights a week in ten months of the year, and also preaches once a week. He has gained fortunes and given them away, but still he talks and talks, and people pay to hear him. His agent, J. B Pond, who always travels with him, says Mr. Beecher draws better than any actor, singer or any combination of singers or actors. Mr. Beecher has lectured two hundred times since last September, and during the time of his lecturing tour traveled forty thousand miles. He receives $250 a night and all expenses paid In large cities he receives more than $250, if the agent feels disposed to give it to him. The estimate is made that he will make $60,000 or $70,000 this year. He gives away his money as fast as he earns it. During the last year of the war his lectures raised $100,000 for the Sanitary Commission. He has Horace Greeley's weakness for lending money to good fellows and endorsing notes for hard up friends, and in that way much of his money goes. The receipts of his first lecture in San Francisco amounted to $2,300; the second $2,150, the third $2,500, and the fourth about $2,500 The largest sum received in any one night of the present season was at Chicago. The lecture was given in the Moody and Sanky Tabernacle, and the receipts amounted to $4,675. In the Western States—Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois—the lecture on "Hard Times" was the most popular, but the lecture on the "Ministry of Wealth" is generally received as the best. On Sunday he preaches to six thousand people, and his audiences average through the week fifteen hundred.

John B. Gough has earned more money than any other lecturer, but he has been talking to public audiences for forty years on temperance. He receives a thousand applications a year to speak. In his book he has 100,000 signatures to the pledge—which had been made at his own solicitation.

Mrs. Livermore is about the only lecturer among women that makes it pay, although there are thousands of women who lecture for the mere pleasure of talking.

Thomas Nast could get $300 a night if he would lecture, and would draw large audiences. He refuses to lecture.

George William Curtis declines to lecture, although he could make $200 a night. Ben Hill, of Georgia, could also make money lecturing, but he declines.

Ben Butler is not in demand as a lecturer. He draws big free crowds, but people won't pay to hear him.

Mark Twain is in demand, and could get $200 a night right along, but he won't lecture, or at least says he won't until reverses come

Robert Burdette, the Burlington Hawkeye funny man, is spoken of as a coming lecturer of the humorous kind. Last Winter he earned $8,000.

Wendell Phillips has more applications to lecture than he can fill, and he is still popular.

Mr. Forbes, the war correspondent of the London News, is coming over to lecture in Canada, and will visit the United States. He is in special demand among the Canadians.

The best readers before the public now are Mrs Scott Siddons and Helen Potter. They never lack for engagements at good prices. The latter made $18,000 last Winter, and her time is filled for this season.

New England is the choice field for lecturing as every town has a lyceum. In the West the best prices are paid to the talkers, and the lyceum system is gradually increasing.

SENATOR BLAINE IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Senator Blaine addressed an immense crowd at the grounds of the Exposition of Agricultural and Mechanical Society Tuesday afternoon, and left to meet engagements in Iowa. In his speech Senator Blaine congratulated the people on the great harvests, the evident thrift and prosperity and wonderful growth of the Northwest, and especially of Minnesota. His speech was largely devoted to a sketch of the history of the State. He said, in conclusion:

I am addressing an agricultural community. During the depression of trade, commerce and manufactures prevailing for the past five years you have steadily progressed in comfort, independence and wealth, while thousands elsewhere have lacked employment, and many, I fear, have lacked bread. No able-bodied man in Minnesota has been without remunerative employment and none has gone to bed hungry. Your pursuits and their pursuits form the basis of the ideal republic, happily, indeed, realized within your own borders. You are land owners, free holders, proud titles that come to us with centuries of civilization and strength. Self-government among the owners of the soil in America is an instinct, and where that ownership is widely distributed good government is the rule. Whatever disturbances, therefore, which may threaten the peace and order of society, whatever wild theories transplanted from other climes may seek a foothold here, the Republic of the United States rests securely on that basis of agriculture where the framers of the Constitution placed it. Gradually the government of the Republic is passing under the control of the farmers of the Mississippi valley. Indeed, it is practically there today. The swelling and on-rushing tide of population is towards the broad plains and rich acres that lie between the two mountain ranges of the continent Many of you to day mingle with your love for Minnesota your earlier affection for the old home and the old States, far to the East, where an honored ancestry lie buried, and where the tenderest memories cluster around the familiar scenes of days long past. It is this kinship of blood, these ties of relationship that makes us indeed one people, uniting the East and West the North and South in the indissoluble bonds of a common and, I trust, always beneficent Government.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.

(Truckee Republican)

A very wealthy gentleman named Jake Hay has recently purchased a fine piece of property about a mile from Tahoe City. The property consists of a tract of land peculiarly fitted for a Summer resort. It reaches from the lake shore to the mountain overlooking the lake Mr Hay has already commenced building, and improving the land, and beautifying the premises. He proposes to erect an elegant mansion, suitable for a residence, and for the accommodation of tourists. He also proposes to lay out lawns and walks, to erect bathing houses and to construct fishing ponds. Mountain streamlets will be conducted throughout the walks so as to form cascades, miniature lakelets, and here and there to supply magnificent fountains The dense pine forests near the house, the grand overhanging mountains, the pebbly wavewashed shore, and the costly improvements being made, will render this a bewilderingly attractive resort. We are informed that the work will continue during the Winter, and will be completed in time for next Summer's business.

CATCHING WILD HORSES IN KANSAS.—Wild horses roam over southwestern Kansas. The difficult feat of capturing them was formerly accomplished with the lasso Entire herds are now secured by a new plan. The hunter's outfit ordinarily consists of a fast-walking pair of horses attached to a wagon, four saddle ponies provisions for several weeks, and six men. A herd being found, the pursuers go toward them at a leisurely pace, doing nothing to frighten them The wild horses run away, but are again and again overtaken. No effort is made to drive them in any particular direction, nor to hurry them This is kept up day after day until they become familiar with the sight of the men, who, at the end of two weeks, are able to go among them. They are somewhat docile through hunger, too, having been kept too steadily moving to permit of sufficient grazing. They are at length driven to a ranch and secured.

STAGE TO PYRAMID.—Having formed a conjunction with J. W. Whitehead, I will run a stage to Pyramid, leaving Reno on Tuesdays and Fridays of each week, returning Sundays and Wednesdays. Passengers, $2 50; fast freight, one cent per pound. Office, Soda Factory, JOURNAL building. ALFRED JOSH.*

FOR the celebrated Crystal Peak Beer leave your orders at J. J. Beckers., H. F. Rohrs Agt. *

FOUNTAIN SODA.—Ice cold, pure and sparkling.

* OSBURN & SHOEMAKER.

On the Brake-beam.

As the west bound freight train pulled out yesterday morning the attention of many was attracted at seeing a youngster on the brake-beam under one of the cars. This is an extremely hazardous, but favorite manner, with tramps and others who try to beat their way from place to place.

Oakland Fair.

We are under obligations to President Pardee and Secretary Greene for an editor's ticket to the first annual fair of the Golden Gate District Agricultural Fair Association, to be held at Oakland, Sept. 9th to 14th, both inclusive. We know it will be a good one, and we shall be sorry if we can not put in an appearance.

Stocks.

The stock market continues excitable, and the gyrations of Serra Nevada are eagerly watched. But Union was the strongest stock of all yesterday, touching 95, and revolving near that point all day, a most wonderful rise. These are times when a man, if he buys at all, shouldnt buy on a margin.

A FRESH lot of tramps and bootblacks have arrived, and the town is filling up with them.

NEVADA STATE FAIR.

Exertions of the Citizens of Reno in its Behalf—The New Pavilion—Agricultural Park Described—The Officers of the Nevada Agricultural and Mining Society.

My visits to this little city began about a year ago, and I am pleased to say it improves with acquaintance. We are as good friends as the village and the gentleman in the story who said, "The whole town turned out to see me, and when we met we both laughed." One of the institutions which I found here, and which seemed to absorb a great deal of time and awaken an unusual attachment in the people was the Nevada State Agricultural, Mining and Mechanical Society. During the Summer and Fall, and at the meeting itself, I found both the officers and citizens ready to work for its success. Preparations were made for the comfort of strangers and the security of stock and goods, and though the crowd was very great and every bed in town full, no case of extortion came to my ears. Reno, as a consequence, made a great many friends, and her Fair was one of the best in the Pacific coast district. Instead of resting upon her honors, as is too often done, the utmost activity is manifested in the same direction this year. Public meetings have been held and committees appointed for various services in this connection. One soliciting special premiums has collected several hundred dollars, and merchants, jewelers, etc, have placed articles at the disposal of the judges to be contended for.

THE NEW PAVILION.

A Committee to raise $5,000 to build a Pavilion has obtained $4,500 in subscriptions and life memberships, and the house is now nearly half finished. It is to be 50 by 120 feet, 34 feet high. The lower story is 14 feet, with a fine solid floor for buggies, light machinery and such potatoes and pumpkins as have to be handled with rope and tackle. In the upper storey one hall occupies the whole space. Two pair of wide stairs, one on each side the entrance, lead to it. Such a room will afford cheerful, roomy quarters for all the visitors, with seats and promenades. Its spacious walls will be hung with pictures, and the fancy work in which the ladies contend so industriously. Shelves and show cases will be provided and there will be a place for everything and room to get to it. Heretofore the freight house owned by the C P and V. T railroads has been used for this purpose, and though admirable warehouse it made a very poor pavilion. It is right in the center of the freight yard, where several tracks must be crossed to reach it, and notwithstanding the efforts of the accommodating railroad officials strings of cars often obstructed the passage. The platform is high, the steps steep and narrow. One small door affords access into the interior, where, during the evening, one unbroken jam extends the length and breadth of the room. A row of buggies on the side, another of tables loaded with miscellany, a few pictures on the walls above, half a dozen shelves, full of apples, corn, mining specimens, etc, reaches the floor where the crowd passes slowly along, or opposing parties try to pass. Then country belles are squeezed up against piles of potatoes and lumps of coal. Beaux are mashed in among the buggy wheels. Clothes are torn, families are separated, and confusion reigns. There are no windows; no doors but one, no ventilation. All this will be changed. No article will be refused room, as has been so often the case before. Many in California have been rejected from the necessities of the case, and I am requested by the President to say that the practice of secret entry has been abolished. Every article may be labeled and its maker or owner known to the public. The outside of the building will be neatly finished and painted. A tower will mount from the center. The roof will carry a heavy cornice. On the east side will be the main entrance; large double doors opening outward and four windows on each storey. The south side will have eight windows, and large doors for goods. Doors will be placed at the west for use when needed. The location is on the corner of Centre and First streets, two blocks in a straight line from the railroad depots, and in the heart of town. It is part of the ground on which Chinatown stood before the fire of a few weeks ago. The citizens of Reno may congratulate themselves on the change.

AGRICULTURAL PARK—THE RACE TRACK.

The Society's track is about a mile and a half south of town, reached by a fine, wide street crossing the Truckee river on a double tracked iron bridge, and by the trains of the Virginia and Truckee Railroad. It is a one-mile track; divided into two stretches and two turns of one quarter mile each. Several home horses have made good time on it, and it is said by experts to be a very fast track. Work is kept up on it constantly, and it will be in fine condition for the coming sport. The grand stand will hold 2,500 people. There are stalls for 150 horses, and sheds for 100 head of cattle.

There is some good stock exercising here now, and the Honey Lake country usually sends down a surprise or two for the boys. I am told nearly twenty horses are at work there now. These, with the horses swinging around the circle in California that will come here will make a fine field. There are over $20,000 in premiums offered, which include speed trials and everything men can make, raise or dig out of the ground. The railroad companies reduce their freight rates one half on goods and animals for exhibition.

OFFICERS OF THE SOCIETY.

In their choice for officers the stockholders have certainly been fortunate. It is no reflection upon those retiring to say that the selection could hardly have been improved. The Trustees are Jasper Babcock, Hon. H H Beck, C C Stevenson, Hon Hub Parker and W. R Chamberlain—the latter is President; L. L Crockett, Secretary; C. T. Bender, Treasurer. Mr Chamberlain has been most active in other positions for years. His reputation for fair dealing, his well know stand against jobs and his love of sport make him a valuable officer. One of the greatest acquisition the society has made this year is in the office of secretary. Mr. Crockett, though a new comer in Reno, is an old Nevadan—a man of public affairs who has had experience in all departments of business and nearly all branches of State and county government. He is easily approached, and commands respect and confidence.

Around this event a constellation of smaller fairs circulate. Eureka always has good races. Winnemucca has the Humboldt county Fair soon after the State Fair, and our Carson brethren propose to entertain their friends in several days, races some time before. They have a nice track, and will no doubt exert themselves to have their horses in good shape. If stocks should happen to be booming this Fall, any of the Nevada meetings would be a good place to bring the dark horse.
—Corr S F Bulletin

Runaway.

Yesterday afternoon Orrin Ross' team which was standing in front of J C Hagerman's store took fright and ran down Sierra street to Second, thence to Centre where they started to turn but changing their minds turned back toward Second street, when one of the horses dashed against the old building on the corner, and both horses were floored, and the wagon turned over. One of the horses was cut a little, and the front axle of the wagon broken.

Cabinet Officer.

Postmaster General Key passed through on the west bound overland last night. His stay on the coast will be short.

One hundred and twenty thousand sheep are pastured around Truckee, from which 300,000 pounds of wool are clipped and shipped away yearly. See how we are out and injured by not having a woolen mill at Reno.

Workingmen at Wadsworth.

ED JOURNAL: There was a grand Workingmen's turn out at Gladding's Hall last night. About one hundred men were present. The call for the meeting not being generally known was the probable cause of the hall not being jammed, for our people here are ripe for the Workingmen's harvest. As it was the audience listened with marked attention to the principles of the party as expounded by the speakers. Mr Hoole, of your town, opened the meeting by stating the object and asking the nomination of some gentleman as Chairman. After the Chairman had been nominated and elected Mr. Hoole was introduced and made an effective and argumentative talk of forty minutes. Mr. Leeper, of Reno, followed for an hour, bringing the house down with roars of laughter, and at different points with enthusiastic cheers; closing with an invitation to sign the roll and form a club. Twelve men signed. All appeared satisfied and in favor of the Workingmen's movement. You can safely set Wadsworth down as good for the Workingmen over both old parties.
